Face Coverings

All campus community members must wear face coverings while on University property and/or when participating in any University-related activities. This includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- Inside of, or in line to enter, any indoor public space.
- Obtaining services from any campus department or office.
- Waiting for transportation on or adjacent to campus property.
- Engaging in work, class, events, and/or programming, whether on University property or off-site at a University related activity. This includes indoor and outdoor spaces.
- In any space where food is prepared, packaged, or sold.
- In any room or enclosed area where other people (except for members of the person’s own household or residence) are present.
- While outdoors in public spaces where consistently maintaining a physical distance of six feet from persons who are not members of the same household or residence is not feasible.

Physical Distancing

- All campus community members must physically distance while on University property.
- All campus community members must physically distance when participating in University-related activities.
- Avoid large crowds and groups of people.
Health Screenings, Isolation & Quarantine

Prior to arriving to any University property or participating in any University-related activity, campus community members must conduct a personal health screening and self-monitor for COVID-19 related symptoms.

Campus community members with COVID-19 related symptoms while on University property or participating in any University-related activity must conduct a personal health screening.

If any campus community members are experiencing COVID-19 related symptoms, then they should stay away from campus and seek medical attention.

All campus community members must comply with any directive from a University or health official requiring them to isolate (if they test positive) and/or quarantine (if they are exposed to someone who has tested positive or is suspected to be infected).

 Visit CDC.gov for information about COVID-19 related symptoms.
Case Reporting

Any campus community member who tests positive for COVID-19 or becomes aware that they may have been in close contact with someone who either has tested positive for or is suspected to have COVID-19 is strongly encouraged to report the positive result or exposure using the COVID-19 Self-Reporting Form on coronavirus.fullerton.edu.
Signage & Safety Guidelines

>> All campus community members while on University property and/or when participating in University-related activities must adhere to COVID-19 health and safety signage.

>> Adherence to COVID-19 health and safety signage includes, but is not limited to, entrance/exit routes in buildings, physical distance markers, required face coverings, and capacity limitations in building rooms, classrooms and library spaces.

>> Prior to arriving to University property or participating in any University-related activity, campus community members should review health and safety guidelines on the Environmental Health & Safety (EHS) website.

>> Prior to returning to campus, visit the EHS website to participate in an online training, which has been made for students, faculty, and staff. The training includes information on safe work practices and re-occupancy safety plan.
